Department Of Mass Media Online Webinar on Career Scope in Advertising and Journalism Report 2019-2020

A. Title: The online 'Career scope in Advertising and Journalism' session was held on 8th April 2020.

B. Background: The session was hosted by Dr. Hanif Lakdawala on various aspects of specialization Advertising and Journalism. He gave the students a deeper insight of the different career options they can pursue after completing their Bachelors in Multimedia and Mass Communication.

C. Aims/ Objectives:

To create awareness about the different career options in Advertising and Journalism

D. Location: Zoom Meeting (Online)

E. Participants: 60

F. Date: 8th April 2020, Wednesday

G. Resources Person: Dr. Hanif Lakdawala

- H. Methodology: During the session, Mr. Hanif shared few videos and a PowerPoint Presentation with the students which had basic information about the different career options in Advertising and Journalism. He helped the students draw a very clear distinction between the two fields. Mr. Hanif also shared that he had studied various subjects and had degrees in various fields that are very different from each other.
- I. Observation: While explaining, he told the students about the diverse fields one can pursue and explained about each field. One very important message that he conveyed to the students was to utilize this free time not only in deciding their career options, but also to increase networking, engage in activities that would help them in boosting knowledge and to read different books. Mr. Hanif encouraged the students to sign up for different value-added courses so that they can make an informed career decision.

J. Feedback:

Overall, the session was engaging and informative and students look forward to more sessions.

Report of a Guest Lecture on 'Applications of Mindfulness in day-to-day living'

A. Title of the Workshop/Activity: Guest Lecture on 'Applications of Mindfulness in Dayto-day Living'

B. Background: Mindfulness, the ability to be fully present and aware, has gained renewed interest in psychotherapy. Recognizing its relevance in day-to-day life, a guest lecture was organized to introduce students to the concept of mindfulness and its practical applications.

C. Aims/Objectives: The primary goal was to help students understand the concept of mindfulness and its potential applications for psychological well-being. The lecture aimed to explore the historical roots of mindfulness in Indian scriptures and cultivate awareness of key attitudes essential for mindfulness practice.

D. Location: SIES College of Arts, Science and Commerce, Sion West.

E. Target audience/participants with expected number: Degree college students and faculty members.

F. Date of the activity: 9th August 2019

G. Name of Resource Persons: Ms. Chitra Kelkar, Assistant Professor, Department of Psychology, S. K. Somaiya College, and a practicing counselor.

H. Outcome/Feedback: Attendees, including degree college students and faculty members, found the lecture both interesting and informative. Ms. Kelkar effectively conveyed the concept of mindfulness and its practical applications, emphasizing its roots in Indian scriptures. The seven attitudes crucial for mindfulness were well-received, and the practical activity with chocolate illustrated the application of mindfulness in a simple yet impactful manner. Participants appreciated the insights into how mindfulness can be used to address issues such as anxiety, pain, and obesity.

I. Funding if any: No external funding received.

Report of Guest lecture on 'Indian Ethos and employee motivation'

A. Title of the Workshop/Activity: Lecture on 'Employee Motivation from an Indian Perspective'.

B. Background: The psychology syllabi include topics on motivation, primarily focusing on Euro-American perspectives. However, there was a recognized need to understand the concept of employee motivation from an Indian perspective, considering cultural differences. This prompted the organization of a lecture to introduce students to Indian ethos and explore how motivation is perceived within the Indian context.

C. Aims/Objectives: The main objective was to provide TYBA Psychology students with insights into Indian ethos and its influence on the concept of motivation. The lecture aimed to compare Western and Indian theories of motivation, emphasizing the cultural nuances that impact the perception of work and motivation.

D. Location: SIES College of Arts, Science and Commerce

E. Target audience/participants with expected number: 25 degree college students

F. Date of the activity: 9th January 2020

G. Name of Resource Persons: Ms. Vrushali Gupte, Assistant Professor, Department of Philosophy.

H. Outcome/Feedback: Students found the lecture both interesting and informative, expressing appreciation for the insights into Indian ethos. They particularly enjoyed the comparison between Western and Indian theories and found the stories shared by Ms. Vrushali engaging and relevant to the topic of employee motivation.

I. Funding if any: No external funding received.

Report of Guest lecture on 'Ethics of Research'

- A. Title of the Workshop/Activity: Guest Lecture on 'Ethics of Research'
- B. Background: In the TYBA Psychology course, students are expected to develop research skills, including the ability to conduct research and write research papers. However, issues often arise in correctly citing references and acknowledging the sources of information. To address this, a guest lecture on the 'Ethics of Research' was organized.
- C. Aims/Objectives: The primary objective was to inform students about the correct methods of including and citing references in their research work. The lecture aimed to cover various aspects of research process, including searching for research areas, narrowing down research problems, types of research, data collection methods, and different referencing styles. Additionally, the session focused on different types of plagiarism and strategies to avoid it.
- D. Location: SIES College of Arts, Science and Commerce, Sion West.
- E. Target audience/participants with expected number: 25 TYBA Psychology students.
- F. Date of the activity: 12th July 2019
- G. Name of Resource Persons: Dr. Neha Karnik, Assistant Professor, Department of Economics, SIES, Sion (W) College
- H. Outcome/Feedback: Students found the lecture to be highly informative and helpful. Dr. Karnik effectively covered the intricacies of research ethics, including searching for research areas, proper citation methods, and strategies to avoid plagiarism. Attendees appreciated the clarity with which the differences between bibliography and references were explained. The lecture successfully equipped students with valuable insights into ethical research practices.

Report of Guest lecture on 'Understanding Genetics'

- A. Title of the Workshop/Activity: Guest Lecture on 'Understanding Genes' for TYBA Psychology Students.
- B. Background: In psychology studies, pupils often encounter the role of heredity in various aspects such as personality, intelligence, and psychological disorders. However, there is a need for a clearer understanding of how characteristics are passed on through genes. To address this, a guest lecture was organized on the topic of 'Understanding Genes.'
- C. Aims/Objectives: The primary objective was to enhance students' comprehension of genetic processes and how genes function. The lecture aimed to provide a detailed explanation of the structure of cells, cell nucleus, chromosomes, and genes, along with insights into the differences between sex cells and other cells. Additionally, the session aimed to clarify the processes of mitosis and meiosis and differentiate between genotypes and phenotypes.
- D. Location: SIES College of Arts, Science and Commerce
- E. Target audience/participants with expected number: 24 TYBA Psychology students
- F. Date of the activity: 27th February 2020
- G. Name of Resource Persons: Dr. Subi Yoosuf, Assistant Professor, Department of Biotechnology, SIES College, Sion (W).
- H. Outcome/Feedback: Students found the lecture very interesting and appreciated. Dr. Yoosuf's ability to explain complex concepts in simple terms. They particularly highlighted the clarity with which the topic of genetic inheritance was presented, noting that the lecture significantly improved their understanding of the subject.

Report of Workshop on 'Suicide Prevention'

- A. Title of the Workshop/Activity: Workshop on 'Suicide Prevention'
- B. Background: Suicide is a significant mental health concern in India, particularly among adolescents. Recognizing the gravity of the issue, a workshop on Suicide Prevention was organized for TYBA Psychology students on 28th January 2020. The World Health Organization (WHO) had also designated Suicide Prevention as the theme for Mental Health Week.
- C. Aims/Objectives: The primary objective was to raise awareness about suicide prevention, dispel myths surrounding suicide, and equip students with the knowledge and skills to identify signs and symptoms of individuals contemplating suicide. The workshop aimed to sensitize participants about the issue and provide insights into effective ways to offer support to those in need.
- D. Location: SIES College of Arts, Science and Commerce, Sion West.
- E. Target audience/participants with expected number: 10 TYBA Psychology students
- F. Date of the activity: 28th January 2020
- G. Name of Resource Persons: Ms. Ketki Doshi, Member of Sisters Living Works Inc., a US-based NGO.
- H. Outcome/Feedback: Ms. Ketki introduced the NGO, shared information about its founders and objectives, and sensitized students about the seriousness of suicide in India. The workshop covered myths and realities about suicide, signs and symptoms of suicidal ideation, and ways to provide timely assistance. The 10 participants found the workshop informative and helpful in understanding the complexities of suicide prevention.

SIES COLLEGE OF ARTS, SCIENCE AND COMMERCE, AUTONOMOUS, Sion (W) Report

National Mathematics Day

Data Sciences - Your Journey Begins Here

Department: Mathematics

Date: 23-12-2019

Title: Data Science - Careers and Paths ahead

Target audience: Students from all classes.

Venue: Room No 8, First Floor, SIES College of Arts, Science and Commerce

Number of Participants: 73

Number of staff attendees: 14

Resource Persons: (1) Ms. Monica Data(Data Science Success Guru at Grey Atom), (2)Jasraj

Date(Data Scientist at Emotix and Alumni of SIESASCS and Grey Atom)

Objective:

- To make students aware about career opportunities in Data Science
- To make them aware about the mathematical knowledge required to start a career in data science.
- To guide them regarding developing a career in data science.

Methodology:

A Seminar titled 'Data Sciences - Your Journey Begins Here' for the students of SIES was organised by the Department of Mathematics jointly with IQAC and Grey Atom Institute, on the eve of National Mathematics Day, to mark the birth anniversary of the great Indian mathematician, Srinivasa Ramanujan.

Outcome: The event was very informative and inspired students to develop a career in data science. The event was a great success and was very received by the students as well as the staff.

DATE OF THE EVENT: 25th December 2019

NO. OF BENEFICIARIES: 10

AIM: To engage the students in a volunteer work at Gothegar and give them exposure to teaching and social work.

BACKGROUND: The Department of English organized an ISR visit to 'Anudanit Prathmik va Madhyamik AshramShala' at Gothegar in Shahpur Taluka. The team consisted of the following volunteers - Kavya Ashok, Mrudula Jadhav, Uma Prabhu, Lokeshwari Naidu, Sanika Naik, Aarya Mishra, Siddhi Seshadri, Shruti Pathak, and Rajdeep Vijayaraj. They were accompanied by Dr. Seema C. of theEnglish department. The team reached the Ashram by 10:30 a.m. and started their activities by 11:00 a.m. The placeallotted to the students was that of a classroom consisting of around 80 students. The session consisted of three activities - Origami, 'Hanky Game', and Thread Painting. All the volunteers were actively involved in teaching Origami to the students. A variety of origami-pieces were taught; bird, dog-face, fish, etc. The students enjoyed this activity and some even created origami-pieces of their own like flowers and boats.

In the second session, the volunteers organized a fun and educational game named 'The Hanky Game'. In this, the students were taught the English names of the body parts (most of them were already familiar with the English names), and they indulged in this competitive game. The winners were awarded chocolates. In the third session, the volunteers helped the students with thread-painting. The students were provided with drawing sheets, colors and pieces of thread and were instructed and helped by thevolunteers in creating beautiful, colorful patterns. Later, all the students posed for a group- photo with their artworks held high. The teachers of the school, along with Dr. Seema C., joined the students in this photograph

Thereafter, all the students were gifted sketch-pens and chocolates on behalf of the English Department. They then left with a smile on their faces.

The volunteers, along with their professor, left for their homes by 1:30pm.

OUTCOME: The whole experiencewas an enriching one for all the volunteers, an experience which shall be cherished for a long time.

Current and Future Status of Plant Tissue Culture

- Use of Transgenic Plants
- Represent an economical alternative to fermentation-based production
- Plant made vaccines or antibodies (plantibodies) are especially striking, as plants are free of human diseases, thus reducing screening costs for viruses and bacterial toxins
- The number of farmers who have incorporated transgenic plants into their production systems in 2008 was 13.3 million, in comparison to 11 million in
